

Request for Research Participants

A research study exploring experiences of change or transformation as a result of completing Lacanian psychoanalysis.

We – Chris Bell, PhD and Stephanie Swales, PhD – are seeking participants who meet the following criteria:

- You have completed a Lacanian analysis within the previous two years that you consider to have been by and large successful.*
- You are currently in or have completed analytic formation at a psychoanalytic school or institute.
- You are interested to speak about the changes you experienced from your analysis.

Participation involves one confidential on-line, audio-recorded interview lasting between 50 minutes and an hour and a half. Your interview will be transcribed and de-identified, and pseudonyms will be assigned to all names mentioned. As a token of our appreciation for your participation in this study, you will receive an $80 Amazon gift card.

Although there is quite a lot of theoretical literature on the types of change associated with undergoing a Lacanian psychoanalysis, there is a dearth of empirical research on analysands' experiences of such change. As such, your participation in this study will make an important contribution to the field of Lacanian psychoanalysis.
